NOAH’S ARK AT THE SKIRBALL

Re-discovered Animals Lesson Extension

Nature and Being

Storytelling and Symbolism Through Self-Portraiture

coloring and collage activity by Stephanie Mercado
I added all the animals on my boat because I have something in common with all of them.
All are welcome on the boat and everyone has an impact on the ecosystem and well-being of others. Let’s do our part to Honor nature and care for all.
OBJECTIVES

This lesson plan is an extension of the Noah’s Ark at the Skirball: The Art of Imagination curriculum students will:

- Explore self-portraiture using symbols and objects to represent themselves and define their strengths.
- Learn a new way to create a self-portrait that explores their relationship to nature through an innovative form of self-expression.
- Honor and respect nature by thinking critically about the role animals and plants play in maintaining a healthy ecosystem.
- Write a short story or description about the animals they chose for their portrait, and how they relate to them.

THEMES

- Empathy, caring for others and for nature.
- Identifying similarities among different beings and embracing diversity.
- Biodiversity is necessary for sustaining ecosystem and life.
- Inherent value of all creatures and people.
- Reflect on personal strengths, personality, and creative ways to articulate one’s identity.
- Symbolism and meaning using animals and objects to create a portrait that reflects one’s personality or values.
- Art concepts - positive and negative space, color relationships, surrealism, symbols, and collaborative

MATERIALS

- Noah’s Ark Flood Stories (Youtube)
- Printed coloring and collage activity sheets.
- Markers, colored pencils, crayons, or watercolor paints.
- Sheet of paper or posterboard to glue activity together.
- Notepaper and pen or pencil to write down thoughts.
- Scissors.
- Glue.
- Glitter, rhinestones, found objects, pressed flowers. (optional)
- World map for geographic-focused activities. (optional)
CLASS ACTIVITY

- Listen to a flood story (link to YouTube) and ask yourself “What are my strengths?” or “How can I use my qualities to create a better world?” Make a list of those strengths or personal qualities using the blank book on page 11.
- Explore different animals from around the world on pages 7 – 10 and learn about their unique characteristics.
- Choose the animals that you most identify with and add to the animals’ descriptions. These animals can serve as symbols of your strengths, personality traits, interests, or values.
- Color the animal(s), the ark (or boat) on page 12, any of the natural elements that you like, or draw your own.
- Optional: Add a photo of yourself to the collage using the oval frame provided.
- Make a self-portrait collage. Cut out the different shapes and arrange them on a piece of cardstock or paper. This process of arranging and layering images is called a collage. Experiment with different placement of images. Once you are happy with the design, glue the pieces to the cardstock.
- Write a short description about you, the animals you chose, or what you think about your self-portrait within the space provided on the ark.

CREATIVITY & CRITICAL THINKING DISCUSSION PROMPTS

- What connections did you make to the animals and objects as symbols?
- Reflect on your personality, strengths and areas for improvement.
- What animals did you feel represented you and which ones did you avoid? Did your perception change in learning about all of the animals and their traits?
- What else would you add to your ark that is not pictured?
- Every creature is an important part of the ecosystem and our choices affect wildlife, how will you help protect nature?
- Encourage participants to write a description or story for their self-portrait and share with the class.
- Play with the idea of using symbols to create a portrait that is different and creates new perspectives.

SHARING AND ASSESSMENT

- Share collages with the group.
- Respond to other’s collages and share any similarities and differences.
- Did any collage challenge your understanding of what is possible or achievable?
