In support of its mission to provide education, information, and communication to the public, the Skirball Cultural Center (“Skirball”) has created and maintains several websites including but not limited to skirball.org (the “Site”) and the companion site shop.skirball.org. Access to and use of this website is subject to the following terms and conditions and all applicable laws. By accessing and browsing the Site, you accept, without limitation or qualification, the following terms and conditions and other notices, and acknowledge full and complete acceptance of these terms.

Use of Site and Its Content

The entire content of the Site is copyrighted under laws of the United States and other copyright laws. You may not copy, reproduce, retransmit, distribute, publish, commercially exploit, plagiarize, or otherwise transfer any copyrighted material from this Site except as expressly permitted by these terms of use.

Content from the Site to which Skirball holds all rights may be downloaded or printed for your own personal, noncommercial use; for academic research, criticism or commentary; and for fair use as defined by United States copyright laws without requesting the Skirball’s permission. However, any such use must cite the source of the information, including the URL “skirball.org,” as well as any other proprietary markings appearing with such content. You may not download or print content where rights are held exclusively or in part by parties other than the Skirball. You acknowledge that the Skirball and/or third-party content providers remain the owners of the Site and its content, and that you do not acquire any ownership rights by downloading or posting copyrighted materials. In downloading, printing, or using content from the Site, you agree not to infringe or violate the rights of any party.

The foregoing sets forth your entire right to copy and use materials found on the Site. Use within the scope of these terms does not require any further permission from the Skirball. Any other use, such as, without limitation, the use of an image for a commercial purpose, requires the prior written consent of the Skirball, which may be granted or denied in the Skirball’s sole discretion. The Skirball’s consent may be requested by contacting:

Comments

The Site provides a comments section for the exchange of ideas and information. By posting comments to the Site you agree to avoid abusive and offensive language and to refrain from posting any content that is commercial in nature or infringes upon any third party's rights, including privacy, copyright, trademark, or patent. We will review comments (and reserve the right to edit for spelling, grammar, or factual errors) prior to posting. We hope you share your thoughts with us. Please note: We may discontinue the Site at any time. We do not have the ability to remove comments upon your request. By posting or distributing information or material through the Site, you expressly abandon any proprietary rights you may have in your comments, and such information or material may be freely copied and distributed by others without your permission. You are responsible for obtaining permission from any third-party owner of proprietary material, such as a copyrighted story or a news article written by another person, before you post or distribute such material. The Skirball requires you to obtain all necessary permissions before posting or distributing any content on the Site.

The Skirball does not warrant that use of the materials displayed on the Site will not infringe the rights of third parties not owned by or licensed to the Skirball. For example, some works may be under copyright by the artist or the artist's heirs holding rights to these works. Such works may not be used in any form; they may not be copied or downloaded without prior permission from the holder of the underlying copyright.
